

What your Galaxy Note8 doodles say about you

We all love to doodle and now, with the Samsung Galaxy Note8 and its S Pen, there are even more possibilities.

Samsung has teamed up with Tracey Trussell, Consultant Graphologist, to analyse the most common doodles and what they mean.

Circles express the need to belong, love and be loved.

Squares express a down-to-earth, practical and constructive nature.

Triangles show a dynamic, powerful and ambitious nature.

Webs reveal calculating personalities who are good at enticing people into a particular situation.

Hearts are symbolic of love and romance, and tell of an affectionate and sentimental nature.

A large circular centre in a flower expresses confidence, and the enjoyment of a good social life.

Carefully drawn flowers betray the obsessive-compulsive personality.

Houses indicate how secure someone feels.

Boxes show ambition, materialism, and a need to plan for the future.

Stacked boxes means the doodler is currently under stress.

Organised neat boxes shows a person who is detail orientated.

Clouds represents escapism.

Grid doodles or checks reveal a desire for control and order.

Coils or spirals means doodlers thrive on variety, creativity and growth.

3D objects express keenness of mind and fluency of thought.
